

Silver level rating for Dinolift in the international EcoVadis sustainability assessment

Responsible business ethics and life cycle thinking are the most important aspects of Dinolift's operating culture. Achieving the silver level confirms that the company operates with respect for the environment and has a strong social responsibility. Dinolift participated for the first time in the EcoVadis responsibility evaluation in the fall of 2022 and reached the top 25 percent.

The silver level shows that we are on the right path and have focused on the right things, but we can always improve our game. From now on, we will see an increasing importance of corporate responsibility in Dinolift's strategy, Dinolift CEO Karin Nars says.

- The goal is to improve Dinolift's corporate responsibility program together with our stakeholders. In addition, we will develop our responsibility reporting. Already now, we are doing many things right, and we want to make that work visible in the reporting. This work will be a strong foundation for the continuous development of our responsibility work. Responsibility should be visible in concrete actions and in the daily ways of working to become an integral part of the corporate culture and values, says Nars.

The company's responsibility program will emphasize quality, customer focus, reliability, stable and sustainable growth, and responsibility for the environment and personnel.

In addition to the EcoVadis Silver certificate, Dinolift has the ISO 14001 environmental and ISO 9001 quality certificate since 2000.

EcoVadis conducts corporate assessments for companies globally on socially and environmentally responsible operations. It has 12 offices worldwide, where more than 90,000 companies have already been evaluated. In its classifications, EcoVadis uses a method in which companies are scored for several different criteria's. Evaluation categories are environment, labor, human rights, ethics, and procurement.
